Art Unit 1713

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 6, 9 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Stavrianopoulos, U.S. Patent 4,843,122.

Reference to Stavrianopoulos specifically teaches modification of polymers containing functional groups as required by applicant's claims and further "derivatized". The claims, as understood, are either anticipated by the reference or, at the very least, rendered prima facie obvious therefrom insofar as the same polymers with the same functionalized groups are reacted with reagents and modified reagents to form functionalized polymers. The specific structure in claim 4 is either anticipated or rendered prima facie obvious insofar as a modified form thereof is specifically shown in column 17 of the reference as a reactant. Derivatized reactants are part of applicant's claims as understood. The claimed processes and products are, therefore, either anticipated or, at the very least, rendered prima facie obvious by reference to Stavrianopoulos, especially in view of the breadth of the claimed "activating reagent" and "derivatizing reagent" as stipulated in the claims.
